Delivering Affordable Energy Across America

Affordable

Making ends meet on a tight budget is helped by affordable energy

Lifestyle

Raising your family where you choose is possible with affordable energy

Secure

Not having to rely on costly imports keeps us secure

North America is producing more energy than ever before, and those additional supplies delivered by pipeline are helping push energy prices down

Affordable Energy

- America is producing energy like never before and now leads the world in oil and gas production
- The ability of our pipeline network to deliver all those new American energy supplies to market is putting a downward pressure on prices – the result: more affordable energy

Fueling Your Lifestyle

- If getting where you need to go means you drive a lot, it's important to have access to affordable energy, especially in rural areas
- Affordable energy also helps us live where we want in places best for our families, because the cost of commuting is manageable

Safe & Secure

- Our energy supplies are more secure because pipelines delivering North American energy cut our dependence on overseas sources
- Pipelines help us avoid costly imports or price swings
